WOMEN TO MARCH, HARPER DECLARES

Inaugural Chairman Says Mrs. Boggs' Withdrawal Won't Affect Plans.

2,100 D. C. TROOPS IN LINE

Guardsmen Will Parade as Federal Unit If Not Mustered Out.

There will be women-many of them-in the inaugural parade despite the fact that the officially designated "woman's division," with Mrs. James H. Boggs at the head, has announced that it will take no part in the March 5 ceremonies.

Col. Robert N. Harper, chairman of the general inaugural committee, made this announcement this after-noon. It came on the heels of a statement, issued earlier by Mrs. Boggs, in which she explained the women members of her division had decided to withdraw from the big quadrennial parade.

Won't Affect Plans.

"The action of Mrs. Boggs," Colonel Harper continued, "will in no way affect the plans of the committee. The withdrawal of the 'woman's division' will not mean the absence of women. The inaugural committee, however, will take no action to replace those women who will not participate as a result of Mrs. Boggs' order."

Brig. Gen. C. A. Devol, adjutant general for the inaugural parade, was advised today that 2,100 District of Columbia National Guardsmen will march in the inaugural pageant. The District troops and their numbers are:

Third infantry, 900.
Proop A, cavalry, 130.
First Separate Battalin, 500.
First Company; Coast Artillery, 75.
Battery B, field artillery, 135.
Co. B, Signal Corps, 74.
Field Hospital Co. No. 1, 65.
Naval Battalin, 196. Certain To March.

Adjt. Gen. J. C. Castner, of the Dis-trict national guard, advised General Devol today that the Third Regiment and Troop A will march in the parade "if mustered out of the service of the United States," but War Department officials said if not mustered out they would march as Federal, instead of national guard units.

The governor of Delaware advised General Devol today that he will attend the inaugural accompanied by his staff and 500 national guard, with

ASKS NAVY TO ARM AMERICAN LINERS

President Franklin's Request Likely to Be Refused, However, Is Report.

If the Navy Department will furnish defensive guns and gun crews, the American Line will keep its ships running on regular schedule through all the barred zones on the seas, sub-marines or no submarines. This was what P. A. S. Franklin, president of the American Line, in efect told Secretary Daniels.

It was learned at the Navy Department today, following the Daniels Franklin conference yesterday, that President Franklin told Daniels he had tried to get armament from pri-Franklin likewise told Daniels that even had he been successful in his search for guns, he would have been unable to get anyone who could shoot them unless the Navy Department came to his rescue. Nevertheless, there was every indi-cation today that this Government has no intention of complying with the American Line's request.

The Government feels there are many questions involved in furnish-ing guns and gunners, the most im-portant being the danger that might arise from a gunner accidentally pre-cipitating actual warfare, through haste or accident, leaving this Government with the responsibility of having brought about the situation through furnishing merchantmen with guns and crews.

President Wilson has reiterated many times that he is determined the onus of responsibility for any war between the United States and Germany many rest on the imperial governmust rest on the imperial govern-ment, and for that reason there ap-pears little likelihood now that Amer-ican merchantmen will be armed, at least by the Government.

Talks Of Convoys. Franklin gave Daniels to understand that if his company were provided with guns and crews he would operate the ships on regular sched-

Daniels said that ten days ago, Franklin had asked for the guns and crews, explaining that he could not obtain them from any other source.

The question of convoying the ships was also discussed by Franklin. No such step could be taken without a resolution of Congress. Daniels inti-mated that he, personally, was not considering asking for such a resolution.

"The situation is entirely unchang-ed," said Daniels. "Nothing has been determined upon."

GIRL SCOUTS SHOW DRILL PROFICIENCY

Four Hundred Will Be Led by Mrs. Rainey in Inaugural Parade.

With a "left-right, left-right," that made the eyes of army officers open wide with surprise, the 400 Girl Scouts of Washington who are to participate in the inaugural parade, went through a preliminary drill in the Ellipse of the White House grounds

ary fashion in the parade on March 5. Two and two, the girls lined up on the sidewalk on either side of the street back of the White House. In khaki uniforms, with dark shoes and black or dark brown stockings, khaki hats, and easy flowing dresses, they marched perfectly. The drill was one of a series to prepare the Girl Scouts for the parade.
